REPUBLICAN COUNTY TICKET SURE OF ELECTION TUESDAY.

It is Now Only Regarded as a Question of Majorities Which Will Be Large—Other Political Matters of Interest.

The election of the Republican county ticket, like that of the Legislative ticket, is not a matter of doubt save as to the size of the pluralities the candidates will receive and the best information at hand based on the most conservative estimates places the Republican ticket anywhere from 1,500 to 2,500 head of the Democratic ticket. The presence of Debs and The Red Special in Connellsville started some talk about large Socialist gains but when the rumor was run down it resolved itself into the loud noise of a few men about one half of whom are Democrats. Candidate Debs said himself that he had no idea of being elected. This opinion is shared by almost everybody else. The average dissatisfied voter talks and grumbles and threatens his party during the campaign, but he seldom fails to remember before he casts his vote that there are but two possible political parties in this country, and a vote for any other party is always for all practical purposes a vote thrown away. The Vote of Protest is sound, lofty and patriotic but it never accomplishes anything. Legislation and government action affecting individuals, communities and interests are always brought about through one or the other of the two chief political parties. In Fayette county where industrial interests predominate the welfare of the employers and the employed is bound up in the Republican party and this fact accounts for the great political change that has made both Fayette and Westmoreland counties but a few short years ago Democratic Gibraltars just as solidly and as safely Republican as they once were Democratic.

The Prohibition vote which cut some figure in Fayette county politics in times past, is absorbed in the Local Option movement, and neither are strong enough to make any particular impression on the results. All their force will be exerted in an effort to elect one or more members of the Legislature by combining with either of the old parties. Republican county leaders do not regard this movement as dangerous to the Republican Legislative ticket, it follows that it will be even less so to the county ticket.

This is a Presidential year and it is expected that a bigger vote will be polled than in the off years. In 1904, the vote for President was as follows: Republican 11,186, Democratic 6,779, Prohibitionist 1,756, Socialist [illegible], scattering [illegible]; Republican plurality, 4,707; Republican majority over all, 2,301; total vote 20,071.

In the off years the vote fell off something like [illegible] per cent but the Republicans maintained a plurality ranging around [illegible]. In 1906 Governor Stuart, Republican, polled 8,628, Emery, Democratic and Lincoln Republican, [illegible]; Republican plurality, 3,196. In 1907 when the contest was one for State Treasurer, enlivened locally by contests for Judge, Sheriff and District Attorney, the vote on the State ticket was Republican 8,[illegible], Democratic [illegible]; Republican plurality, 2,888. The Republican county ticket was successful by pluralities ranging from 1,500 to 4,000. There was in the campaign a Citizens ticket composed of dissatisfied elements of both parties. This ticket combined with the Prohibition ticket and polled about 2,000 votes.

In 190[illegible] there was no National or State contest to draw attention. Interest was centered on the county ticket, which included Prothonotary, Register and Recorder, Treasurer, Commissioners, Poor Directors and Auditors. The Republican plurality ran from 2,300 to 2,500.

The vote of 1908, however, must necessarily be estimated on the vote of a Presidential year. It is not claimed or expected that the Taft vote will equal the Roosevelt vote of 1904 in Fayette county or elsewhere. Four years ago the country was in the flood tide of prosperity and everybody was satisfied with the Government. There is a certain element which always blames the party in power for anything of a calamitous nature that happens. The Republican party is facing the discontent of this element in this campaign because of the bank wrecking panic of last fall and its evil consequences to the business of the country generally.

This dissatisfaction will at most scarce affect more than 10 per cent or one Republican out of every ten and this will reduce the vote to something like 10,400 Republicans to 8,000 Democrats, leaving a Republican plurality of 2,400.

The candidates on the Republican county ticket are men of character and standing. It will be remembered that they were nominated at an open primary where the voters dropped faction and selected what they evidently thought to be the best men and that the verdict subsequently had the hearty endorsement of all factions. The Republicans of Fayette county are thoroughly united on their county ticket and it is not likely that it will be seriously cut. The prediction made at the opening of this dispassionate review of the situation therefore will be recognized as reasonable. It must be borne in mind that this is a Presidential year and Fayette county people of every station in life are materially interested in the maintenance intact of the Republican policy of Protection. This fact will lend additional strength to the Republican county ticket and will protect its pluralities from any defections from any source whatever.

The New Salem Meeting

An excellent Republican meeting was held at New Salem last night under the auspices of the Fayette County Republican Club. A large parade preceded the speaking which took place from a platform in front of the New Salem National Bank and [illegible]'s store. Not only did the people of the progressive little town turn out in large numbers but men came from all the nearby works on horses and the parade made a most creditable showing. The parade was led by the McClellandtown band. The reception committee and speakers rode in wagons in the parade. Chinese lanterns and oil lamps illuminated the route of the parade. Thomas P. Jones made the first address of the evening and very ably set forth the reasons why the Republicans should support the entire Republican ticket. He made special reference to the county candidates, pointing out their qualifications and fitness for office. Richard Davis, former State Representative, expounded the principles of the Republican party and its attitude toward the laboring men. He declared that it was due to the care of the Republican party that the workingmen of America were able to command such good wages and enjoy the prosperous times that they have had [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the working man [illegible] [illegible] continue the party in power.

MAN DEAD; GIRL DYING IN MORGANTOWN HOTEL

Mysterious Shooting Occurs There this Morning With Fatal Result to Two People

United Press Telegram.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Oct. 30—John Watts, engineer at the Madeira Hotel, is dead and May Mazelle, aged [illegible], a pretty waitress, is probably fatally wounded as the result of a mysterious shooting which occurred in the girl's room at an early hour this morning.

Employes of the hotel rushed to the room when the shots were heard. They found both man and girl unconscious. Watts was bleeding profusely from a wound in the abdomen while the girl was shot in the [illegible].

Watts expired soon after the crime was discovered while the girl was removed to the Hartigan hospital. Watts was married and is the father of two children.

PROPERTY ESCAPES MARKS LAST NIGHT.

Chalk Night Passes With Few Evidences in Connellsville.

POLICE KEPT SHARP WATCH.

Not for years were there so few evidences of Chalk Night on the streets of Connellsville as [illegible] celebrations [illegible] night. Nothing [illegible] [illegible] public [illegible] school boys [illegible] were able to prevent the pranks and characteristics that usually come. The police were on duty all night and paid frequent visits to different sections of the town. No complaints have been received of obscene words or pictures being marked on fronts of buildings.

Chief of Police Rottler took charge of the Second ward and patrolled it thoroughly. [illegible] few but few youngsters active and they were an orderly lot. The other police were scattered in other sections but had little trouble in preventing [illegible].

The supply of chalk was limited this year [illegible] teachers of the schools took precaution that little of the chalk fell into the hands of the children. Tonight is Corn Night and the police will observe the same precautions. Tomorrow night Hallowe'en innocent fun will be tolerated but attempts to destroy or damage property will result in arrests if the offenders can be recognized.

NEW BUILDING FOR WEST MAIN STREET.

Three Story Brick Structure to Be Erected Opposite Coulter Place at Early Date

According to a well founded rumor there is every prospect of a new building being erected on West Main street within the next few months. The firm of Cunco and Cordelli is to erect a three story brick building extending from Main street to Orchard alley. The first floor is to be used for a restaurant [illegible] while the other two floors will be divided into apartments. GEORGE R. FOLDS STEPS DOWN AS GENERAL MANAGER OF WEST PENN.

Retires To Assume Position in New York After Year's Active Service With Company—Has Made Many Improvements.

General Manager George R. Folds has resigned his position as General Manager of the West Penn Railways Company effective November 15. The resignation was announced at the regular weekly meeting of officials [illegible].

Mr. Folds retires from the West Penn to assume a responsible position with the H. W. Johns-Manville Company of New York, one of the largest manufacturers of asbestos goods and magnesia products in the United States. As General Sales Manager and assistant to the president he will [illegible] new line of work [illegible].

[illegible] assumed charge of the West Penn on November 1 [illegible] last year Mr. Folds perfected the organization of the system to a high state of efficiency. During his administration the Brownsville line was completed and began operation, promising to become one of the most profitable branches of the company. Many other improvements were accomplished under his direction including the expenditure of thousands of dollars for the improvement of the big power house at Connellsville. His going will be regretted by the officials with whom he has worked during the past year.

For the present no successor will be appointed in his place and the general supervision of the road will be directed from the offices of W. S. Kuhn in Pittsburg. The departure of Mr. Folds will cause no changes in the present organization in Connellsville.

HEAVY SUIT FOLLOWS GOSSIP'S SPREADING.

Annie Porin Asks $10,000 for Damaged Character in Which Priest is Implicated

As the outcome of the friction which developed among the congregation of the Italian Catholic church here, Annie Porin, who was employed as housekeeper by the Rev. Joseph De Sabato, has brought suit against Michal Rendine, a prominent Connellsville Italian, and [illegible] Rendine, his wife, asking that $10,000 be awarded her in each case for slander.

Miss Porin avers that her exemplary conduct won favor, good will and esteem among her acquaintances which she enjoyed until one time in July 1908 when Michael Rendine, she avers, did with a loud tone of voice which was heard by many people in the neighborhood say that she was not a fit and proper person to associate with.

Mrs. Rendine, the plaintiff alleges, went further than this, not only saying that she was not a fit person to associate with but that she had been seen with men both married and unmarried go into the house of the priest, inferring that they were there for no good purpose. For the damage sustained by her character Miss Porin seeks redress in the courts.

DUNKLE CONFERS WITH PRESIDENT.

Cashier Rinehart's Case Is Discussed But No Statements Are Made Public

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 30—J. W. Dunkle, United States Attorney at Pittsburg, was here yesterday and held conferences with President Roosevelt and Attorney General Bonaparte regarding charges of dilatoriness in prosecuting J. B. F. Rinehart, Cashier of the Farmers and Drovers National Bank of Waynesburg, indicted for wrecking the bank.

The attorneys of the Department of Justice who were sent to Pittsburg have reported to the Attorney General but Mr. Bonaparte has not yet made a complete report to the President.

When asked as to his errand here today Mr. Dunkle refused to give any information nor would he say what he had discussed with the President. Before going to the White House he conferred with the Attorney General and later in the afternoon he called again at the Department of Justice.

Attorney General Bonaparte declined to make any statement. He would not say whether the prosecution of the case would be left to Mr. Dunkle or whether a special attorney would be appointed.

Afternoon at Cards.

Yesterday afternoon between the hours of 2.30 and 5 o'clock the Thursday Afternoon Card Club was charmingly entertained by Miss Katherine Frisbee at the Frisbee Cottage on Washington avenue. Mrs. Harry Mitchell, a recent bride, and Miss Sarah Long, a bride-elect of December 1, sharing honors. The decorations were very elaborate and were suggestive of the Hallowe'en season. The walls and windows were partially covered with tall stalks of corn, while all the lights were concealed by very grotesque faces. In the corner of the reception hall was stationed an old witch while profusion of autumn leaves added greatly to the beauty of the decorations. The living room where the card tables were placed was in autumn leaves, pumpkin vines and pumpkin lantern faces while the same idea was carried out in the dining room. Ten tables were called into play during the afternoon and at the close of the games the club prize at bridge was awarded to Mrs. Harry Mitchell and the club prize at 500 to Miss Edna Evans. Mrs. F. R. Bradford and Mrs. Clyde Whiteley tied for the guest's prize and on the cut, Mrs. Whiteley won. Following the games a Hallow'en luncheon, consisting of pumpkin pie, nuts, apples and cider was served. The favors were witches' hats of yellow and black satin, filled with bon bons, and to which were attached small brooms. Mrs. Mitchell and Miss Long, the honor guests, were given dainty souvenirs. The out of town guest present was Miss Millholland of Pittsburg, the guest of Mrs. Joseph McConnell. Mrs G. W. Wells will entertain the club next Thursday afternoon at her home on South Pittsburg street.

PROCTER & GAMBLE P&G NAPHTHA SOAP

The Color Tells The Story.

P. & G. Naphtha Soap is white. That proves its superiority.

P. & G. Naphtha Soap is white—there is no rosin in it.

Ordinary naphtha soaps are yellow—they contain rosin. The yellower they are, the more rosin there is in them.

Rosin is not especially harmful; nor, on the other hand, is it of any particular value. But it is cheap, and that is why most manufacturers of naphtha soaps use it.

The way to be sure to get full value for your money, when you buy naphtha soap, is to ask for P. & G. Naphtha Soap—there is no rosin in it.

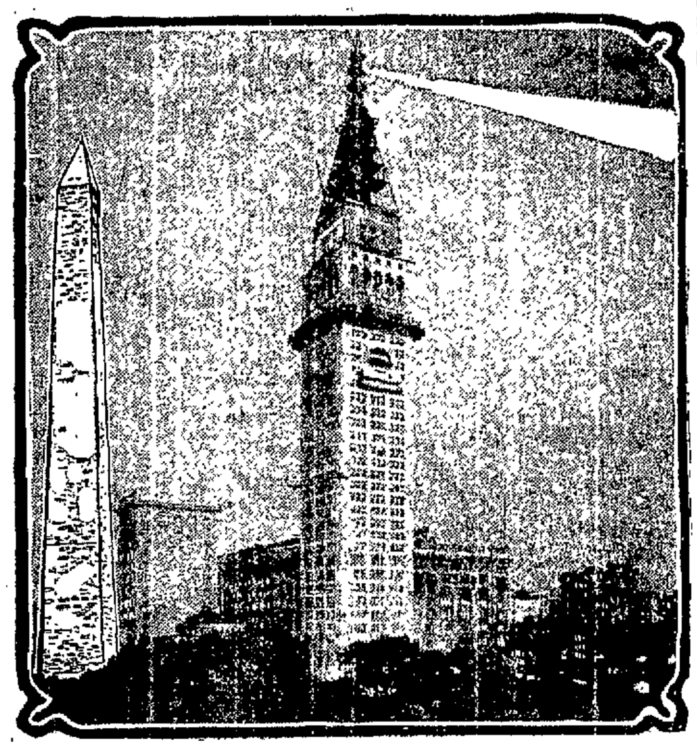
ELECTION FLASHED TO MILLIONS FROM WORLD'S TALLEST BUILDING.



If weather conditions are favorable, 7,000,000 people in New York and its environs will get the first news of the definite result of the election on the night of November 3 by means of a searchlight flashed from the tower of the Metropolitan Life building. This tower is 658 feet tall, or 103 feet higher than the Washington monument, as shown by the comparison in this picture. It is estimated that the searchlight may be seen at a distance of 60 miles. The light will be the most powerful ever seen in this country, having a radiance of 100,000 candle power. If the shaft of light points north, it will indicate Taft's election; if south, Bryan's. A flash to the west will indicate Governor Hughes' election, to the east Chanler's.

ALL KIDNEY AND BLADDER TROUBLES

Readily Relieved and Cured By This Simple Home-Made Mixture.

IS SPLENDID FOR RHEUMATISM

Much Less Kidney Trouble Here in Connellsville if This Prescription to Make Home Remedy Becomes Known to Courier Readers—Any Druggist Can Supply the Ingredients.

Here is a prescription that anyone can mix at home. Any good prescription pharmacy can supply the ingredients named at little cost, being composed of vegetable extracts, it is harmless and inexpensive. Best of all it does its work well, relieving even the worst forms of bladder trouble, frequent urination, backache, kidney complaint, and by its direct action upon the eliminative tissue of the kidneys, makes these most vital organs rid the blood and system of waste matter and uric acid which causes rheumatism.

Here it is; try it, if you suffer. Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces.

Shake well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime.

Former sufferers often state that one week's use shows curative results in nearly every instance, and such symptoms as lame back, frequent desire to urinate, pain in bladder and even chronic rheumatism are generally relieved within a few days, the pain and swelling diminishing with each dose.

FRIDAY EVENING, OCT. 30, 1908.

A POORLY INFORMED SPELLBINDING COMBINATION

The Democratic orators who have been telling the people of Fayette county that the evil times which prevailed from 1893 to 1897 under a Democratic administration composed of a Democratic President and a Democratic Congress in both branches, dated from the previous Republican administration evidently have a poor knowledge of contemporaneous history

There was no panic in 1890 under President Benjamin Harrison nor was there any in sight The country was peaceful and prosperous, though it had not any boom like that of the past decade, nor was any such prosperity dreamed of Grover Cleveland was elected President by the Democrats on a Tariff Reform platform It was the Cleveland idea, and President Cleveland was quite as sincere in his view of its wisdom and justice as he was mistaken as to its effects His first message to Congress demanded the passage of a bill reducing tariff duties, and the result was the Wilson Gorman bill of bitter memory Before its final passage and operation, the iron and steel industry, and all manufactories related thereto either slowed down or suspended altogether a general business depression set in idle and hungry men roamed over the country, poverty and suffering filled the land the Soup House made its appearance, and the Army of the Unemployed marched to Washington demanding relief

Conditions were promptly reflected in the Connellsville coke region More than half the coke ovens went out of blast The smoke laden atmosphere became pure again but the pockets of the people were empty and so were the stomachs of the workmen, These conditions continued with little betterment through the years of the Cleveland administration and the operation of the Democratic Tariff Coke production dropped to the minimum and prices tumbled from $2 to less than $1 per ton. Operation was profitless alike to employers and employed.

In 1896 the country was threatened with Free Silver as well as Free Trade, but after an exciting and strenuous contest the people declared against both Business revived at once It did not wait for the inauguration of President McKinley and the passage of a Tariff Bill embodying the principle of Protection but in a degree anticipated that action Under the Republican Protective Tariff the country entered upon era of undreamed expansion and unexampled prosperity It became the foremost nation of the world commercially financially and politically Labor commanded a premium idleness was unknown save on the part of those who would not work and every thrifty workman had a bank account

The very glut of prosperity bred speculation and it ended last fall in the wrecking of some of the New York banks by reckless Wall street operators Panic and distrust diffused itself like a sudden blight over the country, and for a couple of months business halted painfully, but returning confidence set in and has already so far progressed that, in spite of the impending campaign, the times have materially changed for the better, and it is evident that we will soon have returned to prosperous conditions provided, that the Republican policies which made this wonderful era of prosperity possible, and which are not responsible for the bank wreckers' panic of 1907, are not disturbed

Returning prosperity will be promoted by the election of Taft it will be destroyed by the election of Bryan This is not a campaign fabrication, but a deliberate statement of fact backed by the unbiased opinion of the business world Prosperity or adversity lies in the hands of the voters The indications of the past few weeks are that the voters are alive to the situation and their lively interest therein We may, therefore, reasonably expect the election of Taft, and a return to better conditions without the aid or consent of the Harmon Grim spellbinding combination which has been telling us some things it didn't know.

A WORTHY AND A WINNING TICKET

The Republican county ticket is a worthy and a winning ticket There is no good reason why any Republican should vote against it but many excellent reasons why every Republican should vote for it

Is he Honest? Is he Capable? Is he Faithful to the Constitution This rule of fitness for office laid down a century ago by Thomas Jefferson of undying memory has lived through the years and through the numerous parties that have made up American politics It is now as then regarded as the highest and best expression as well of Partisanship as of Patriotism What Jefferson meant by the last question was, Is he faithful to our interpretation of the Constitution? In other words, Is he faithful to our party? In this sense the expression is still construed It is therefore proper and right to measure up the character and qualifications of each and every candidate on the county ticket by the Jeffersonian rule Is he Honest? Is he Capable? Is he Faithful to the Republican party?

The Courier presents today brief sketches of all the Republican candidates and is prepared to certify that they meet the most rigid requirements of the Jeffersonian rule The integrity of none has been called into question because none can be aspersed The ticket is composed of persons of good repute citizens of character, men whose personal integrity is above suspicion In point of ability it is generally conceded that no better qualified ticket has been presented in recent years certainly not in this campaign The Republican county ticket is evidently above criticism in point of integrity and fitness otherwise the opposition would have been heard from long ere this

Applying the third and final test, we are happy to be able to state that all the candidates have at all times been faithful to the Republican party and it is consequently right that the Republican party should be faithful to them when it has honored them with its nominations

It will be remembered, too that the Republican county ticket was nominated at a wide open primary, where every Republican vote was given equal weight and all were honestly counted The ticket is the untrammeled choice of the unbossed rank and file of the party It is untainted it is fit It is Republican Common fairness common honesty, common decency and common sense demand that it should have the common support of the Common People who chose it.

Not only do the Republican voters as a matter of good faith and good politics, owe it to themselves to vote the county ticket without exception but they also owe it to the party whose prestige and power are at stake

Our plea for the Republican county ticket is earnest not because we fear its defeat or the defeat of any portion of it but because we feel that it is entitled to the unanimous support of united Republicans as a matter of justice to the candidates and the party The ticket will win but the bigger its plurality the better Republican principles will be conserved in Fayette county When the Fathers of the Country framed the Constitution and successfully rebelled against the greatest World Power of their time, it was under the immortal motto

"United, we stand, divided, we fall"

A SAFE AND SANE AND HAPPY HALLOWE'EN

"Chalk Night" was practically abolished by the vigilance of the police and the public warnings previously given that defacement of property and indulgence in obscenity would be sternly punished

Burges Soisson and the officers of the law should not now relax their efforts but rather redouble them to the end that the Hallowe'en festivities may not be marred by malicious misdeeds but on the contrary that the festival may become as it should be a sane and safe and happy holiday, a bright spot in the year's calendar

"Corn Night" is comparatively harmless and innocent diversion should not be hindered Hallowe'en proper occurs tomorow evening The tendency of the times is to make it an occasion of merry making and harmless gaiety That tendency should be encouraged in Connellsville It will do more than anything else to depopularize and destroy the insanity of destruction and petty mischief which has hitherto characterized the night

The logic of the situation and the testimony of cold figures leave no doubt as to the election of the Republican county ticket and its high character for honesty ability and faithfulness makes the probability of its election a matter for congratulation

NEWS OF A DAY IN SCOTTDALE.

James Dix Carried Half a Pint of Nitro Glycerine

TO BLOW ONE LITTLE SAFE

Desperate Character of the Fellow Sent to Greensburg Yesterday Everybody to Join in the Big Celebration Tonight.

SCOTTDALE Oct. 30—James Dix from Richmond, Va and later from the Workhouse where he was sent for crimes done in this section, so he said was sent to Greensburg by Justice H C Hubbs, yesterday after Dix had waived a hearing on the charge of trying to blow open the safe at John Pritt's feed store in North Scottdale early yesterday morning. Wm Faith, Jr who was going home about 3 o'clock he says saw Dix come to the door of the feed store and look out. Faith hurried away and got Pritts and another man and came back armed and captured the intruder. Dix says that three guns were leveled at him and he gave up on that account. Constable Thomas J Gillespie says that Dix had nearly a half pint bottle full of nitro glycerine on his person when arrested, enough to blow up that end of the township. Gillespie said he gave a fellow a dime to have him throw the stuff into Jacobs creek. If anyone should try to slackwater that lovely stream they will likely run against a serious obstacle. Dix had the out door of the safe open and had built a cup of soap around the inner lock and filled it with glycerine. He had come to the door to see if everything was clear to be ready to put off the shot to open up the safe. He had more or less of whiskey in him when arrested. He says that he is a German from old Virginia and apparently colored blood flows through his veins. He is partly bald and both his arms are tatooed lavishly, a dancing girl being a prominent picture on his right forearm. He was taken to Greensburg yesterday evening by Constable Gillespie.

This is the Big Night.

There will be a big night tonight in town since the celebration of Halloween is to be done in great shape with a fantastic parade and all the fun that masks and mummers may have. This is the second celebration of this kind in town and it will be much bigger than was the one last year that drew hundreds of people to the streets. Masks false faces and all sorts of have been sold by the hundreds the last few days and all kinds of fancy and grotesque costumes are being made. The celebration will be a great one from the preparation that is being made. The only thing to hold it back will be unfavorable weather. All to take part in the parade are requested to report to Chief Marshal J P Owens or his aides at the corner of Loucks avenue and Chestnut street to Broadway to Fifth avenue, countermarch along Broadway to Pittsburg street. All along the line the people are preparing to burn red fire during the progress of the parade.

Funeral of Joseph Gleason

The funeral of Joseph Gleason who died from an apoplectic stroke on Tuesday was held from the St John's R C Church this morning at 10 o'clock. The deceased was an employe of the Scottdale Foundry & Machine Company was 58 years old and is survived by several children.

Chalk Night Observed.

Last night was seized by some enthusiastic lads suffering from too much health as chalk night and the sidewalks and buildings were covered with decorations however, much fewer than in previous years, the general celebration of Halloween being taken to mean that energy is to be he saved up for straight fun. The High School class of 1911 or some of their ardent admirers placed their name in many places. Of the usual indecency of chalk night there was a pleasant and almost total absence. The boys have been put in the position of acting square and are showing that they have the stuff in them to do the square thing.

Out to See the World

Frank Gallagher and William Vesbinder sons of two prominent families had a short dream of the Isle of Monte Christo when they started out to see the world the other day and got hung up at Altoona. The two boys scraped some cash together and started evidently for gay New York. The police stopped them at Altoona and they are ready to come home. They are not the first adventurers of their age and the trip ought not to hurt them.

BELL COMPANY TO GIVE ELECTION RETURNS.

Preparing to Render Complete Service to Subscribers on Next Tuesday Night.

The Bell Telephone Company is preparing to give out election returns on the night of November [illegible]

Unusually complete preparations are being made to secure prompt and accurate returns. Special long distance wire will connect Pittsburg with Columbus Ohio and Charleston W Va, also with 200 election bureaus for the collection of local returns from Pittsburg and points surrounding, within a radius of 150 miles. A special corps of editors will summarize the returns as received and will prepare the bulletins for distribution. Added to this local system will be service from general bulletin wires making direct connections with the election bureau of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company at New York City, which bureau will receive reports by direct wire from all parts of the United States.

The associated Bell companies on the night of election will have over [illegible]0,000 employes engaged in the collection and distribution of returns and will connect up specially for the occasion over 600,000 miles of long distance telephone circuits besides [illegible]000 miles of telegraph circuits.

The arrangements made are such that within five minutes of the completion of a poll in any part of the United States the news of the results will be in the hands of every one of the 1,000,000 subscribers of the Bell system.

Brothers Quarrel, One Fatally Shot

Valdosta Ga Oct 30—News has been received here of the shooting of Alfred Boon by his brother Babe Boon in Echols county inflicting probably fatal wounds. Both are under twenty one years of age the sons of a prominent farmer. It is said the trouble grew out of a whipping which Babe Boon administered to a younger sister. The wounded youth is not expected to recover.

REPUBLICAN COUNTY TICKET SURE OF ELECTION TUESDAY.

Going to Uniontown.

At a meeting of the Yough Republican Club last evening it was decided that a large delegation of the club go to Uniontown Saturday night to appear in the parade at that place. The members of the club will leave Connellsville at 6 30 o clock in order to arrive in Uniontown in plenty of time to allow them to appear in the parade Captain R. C. Lyons is arranging to marshal a large turn out and the members are heartily in accord with his arrangements as they feel that it is due Uniontown to make a good showing after their efforts in assisting Connellsville in her demonstration A large number of prominent men will also go to Uniontown to be present at the meeting

Bean Bake at Everson

The Democrats are arranging for a big bean bake at Everson tomorrow The same Democratic speakers who have appeared at former meetings are billed for the meeting

A Leter to Republicans.

County Chairman P A Johns has addressed the following letter to the Republican voters of Fayette county It is interesting and well worth perusal

As Republican County Chairman I write you this letter and urgently request you to interest yourself in getting out the full Republican vote in your district for the whole Republican ticket See to it that there are no stay-at-homes See to it that every candidate on the ticket is loyally supported The election this year is an important one and every Republican should rally to the support of the ticket and thus help to break all previous records for Republican majorities in Fayette County Political differences are made issues in primary contests but they have no place in Republican politics when primary elections are over and true Republicans who believe in the Square Deal will line up for the regularly nominated candidates and against our common political enemy—the Democratic party Join us in the good work! Help the good cause along All the candidates National, State and County deserve your support.

Join in the battle for the straight ticket' and you will share in the glory of the great victory that is sure to follow on November 3rd 1908

Situation in Westmoreland.

Westmoreland county promises a splendid Republican showing in this election Beyond any doubt Congressman George F Huff will be re-elected and there is even a possibility that he will have more than his usual majority The voters of the Westmoreland Butler district have confidence in him and this year they are more enthusiastic than ever before While Butler county does not boast of its industries Westmoreland the Star of the East can boast of them with pardonable pride, and in these boasts they can point to Congressman Huff as having guarded them with zealous care

The one strong point and the feature of importance to Col Huff's campaign is that he has never lost an opportunity to bend all his efforts towards helping the miner and the effects of his efforts are plainly shown in his hearty support in Westmoreland His activity in securing an investigation of mine accidents and methods of prevention and interesting the most noted mine experts in the world in trying to prevent disasters and accidents in mines is not only of vital importance in Westmoreland county but it is of world wide importance The interest that Col Huff has displayed in the local mining institutes for the better education of the miners is also another act that brings him in close touch with both the men who work in the mines and those who operate them

But aside from Col Huff's candidacy there is another man in Westmoreland that gives the Republican ticket strength That man is John M Jamison The Jamisons are identified with the development of Westmoreland The Jamisons have always been there They have assisted and worked and helped in every improvement so that Westmoreland county can be counted upon as one of the counties that will be strongly in line of Republican ideas and Republican prosperity next Tuesday evening when the returns from all over the country will be tabulated

County Chairman Charles C Crowell who is in close touch with the situation, estimates Huff's majority at 6 500 in the Butler Westmoreland district He says

Mr Huff's majority in Westmoreland we place at 4 500 that in Butler at 2 000

There is no reason to believe that the balance of the ticket will not make as good a showing I believe that the Presidential ticket will have a smaller majority than four years ago when Mr Roosevelt's margin was about 11 000 Mr Taft will probably get a majority of 5000 in this county Our Democratic friends are claiming that Mr Huff has made some losses That is true They fail however, to credit him with gains Mr Jamison the candidate for Senator is very popular and I have no doubt he will have as large a majority as the Congressman

In the First Legislative district our poll shows that Fish and Knox will win by at least 1 000 majority In the Second district the three Legislative candidates will lead their opponents by a majority of from three to four thousand

There has been some talk about the Soul list vote here I regard it as a negligible quantity There are a few in Monessen and some in New Kensington

We have not felt any material depression here to speak of Some of the coke plants especially those at Mount Pleasant and others situated near centers of population have been closed for lack of water It was necessary to either shut the water supply off from the towns or from the plants The Jamison Coal & Coke Company rather than close its plant has been hauling water from the mountains at an expense of several hundred dollars a day

It's Getting Nearer!

TWO CANDIDATES IN TOWN ON SAME DAY.

Both of Them Deliver Addresses to Large Crowds in Theatres and Bryan Starts West

Syracuse N Y Oct 30—To this city fell last night the distinction of entertaining the two men most prominent in public interest To applauding thousands William H Taft and William J Bryan expounded respectively Republican and Democratic doctrine Mr Taft spoke at two meetings and Mr Bryan at four At each occasion the warning "standing room only" was displayed long before the hour of the meeting and before the big men arrived standing room was at a premium and hundreds were turned away Also in each instance the presidential candidates were received with flattering demonstrations and their speeches were frequently interrupted by spontaneous applause

The Taft and Bryan specials arrived at the station at almost the same moment and to the credit of the city's hospitality the expressions of welcome were pretty evenly divided Both candidates were met by local leaders and entertained at dinner

Cheers sounded all day long in the wake of the Taft train which visited Lyons Canandaigua Geneva Seneca Falls and Auburn The climax was reached last night in this city with a big parade two meetings and an overflow There was no lack of auditors and enthusiastic demonstrations wherever the Ohioan has tarried

Candidate in Good Shape

Despite the heavy campaigning required of him in Greater New York, he showed little effect of the strain He has hit at the root of what he considers Democratic fallacies [illegible] speech and has been free in expressing his opinion as to what the result will be next Tuesday Governor Hughes has been commended in strong language likewise the remainder of the New York state ticket and he [illegible] presidential candidate

At Geneva where Judge Taft had a large and interested audience composed largely of those interested in labor he talked a half hour longer than his hours schedule permitted After giving the history of the writ of injunction to show that it was a court process devised to prevent the execution of a threatened injury to property he had this to say of the attitude of the two parties and of Mr Bryan in the matter

The Republican party recognizes that injunctions that are too broad have sometimes been issued in labor disputes That puts labor at a disadvantage and therefore it ought to be discouraged as much as possible The party passed a resolution requiring the best practice with respect to injunctions specifying the instances in which injunction shall issue without notice and offering an opportunity to a statute which shall make injunctions without notice operative only for forty eight hours or fifty six hours and then cease to be operative

WHY SUFFER?

Breathe Hyomei and Kill the Loathsome Catarrh Germs

Just as long as you have catarrh your nose will itch your breath will be foul you will hawk and spit and you will do other disgusting things because you can't help yourself The germs of catarrh have got you in their power they are continually and persistently digging into and irritating the mucous membrane of your nose and throat They are now making your life miserable in time they will sap your entire system of its energy its strength its vigor and vitality

If you do not kill the loathsome germs of catarrh their destructive results will in time undermine your health rob your brain of its brilliancy and activity and leave you not only a physical but mental wreck

This picture is not overdrawn the writer has seen thousands of just such cases He has personally experienced the demoralizing results that come from the ravishing attacks of the horrible catarrh germs the greatest pest of civilized nations

But there is one remedy that will kill the germs and cure catarrh and that is Hyomei the Australian dry air treatment There may be other remedies but they are not guaranteed as is Hyomei A A Clarke the druggist will guarantee Hyomei to cure catarrh or money back Don't delay this pleasant antiseptic treatment Every day you allow these germs to exist in your system brings you nearer to complete demoralization A A Clarke will sell you a complete Hyomei outfit for only $1.00 Ask him about it It is also guaranteed to cure bronchitis asthma, coughs colds and hay fever

The Younger Set

By ROBERT W. CHAMBERS,

Author of "The Fighting Chance," Etc

Copyright, 1907, by Robert W. Chambers

But Gerald remained utterly unresponsive, stolidly so, and the other instantly relinquished the hope of any confidence at that time, shifting the conversation at once to the object and reason of Gerald's coming and gayly expressing his belief that the time was very near at hand when chaosite would figure heavily in the world's list of commercially valuable explosives.

Noergard

It was early in August that Selwyn had come to the conclusion that his chaosite was likely to prove a commercial success. And now, in September, his experiments had advanced so far that he had ventured to invite Austin, Gerald Lansing and Edgerton Lawn of the Lawn Nitro Powder company to witness a few tests at his cottage laboratory on Storm head, but at the same time he informed them with characteristic modesty that he was not yet prepared to guarantee the explosive.

He froze chaosite and boiled it and baked it and melted it and took all sorts of hair raising liberties with it, and after that he ground it to a powder, placed a few generous pinches in a small hand grenade and affixed a primer, the secret composition of which he alone knew. That was the key to the secret—the composition of the primer charge.

"I used to play baseball in college," he observed, smiling, "and I used to be a pretty good shot with a snowball."

They followed him to the cliff's edge, always with great respect for the awful stuff he handled with such apparent carelessness. There was a black, sea soaked rock jutting out above the waves. Selwyn pointed at it, poised himself and with the long, overhand straight throw of a trained ball player sent the grenade like a bullet at the rock.

There came a blinding flash, a stunning clean cut report—but what the others took to be a vast column of black smoke was really a pillar of dust—all that was left of the rock. And this slowly floated, settling like mist over the waves, leaving nothing where the rock had been.

"I think," said Edgerton Lawn, wiping the startling perspiration from his forehead, "that you have made good, Captain Selwyn. Dense or bulk, your chaosite and impact primer seem to do the business, and I think I may say that the Lawn Nitro Powder company is ready to do business too. Can you come to town tomorrow? It's merely a matter of figures and signatures now if you say so. It is entirely up to you."

But Selwyn only laughed. He looked at Austin.

"I suppose," said Edgerton Lawn good naturedly, "that you intend to make us sit up and beg, or do you mean to absorb us?"

But Selwyn said: "I want more time on this thing. I want to know what it does to the interior of loaded shells and in fixed ammunition when it is stored for a year. I want to know whether it is necessary to use a solvent after firing it in big guns. As a bursting charge I'm practically satisfied with it, but time is required to know how it acts on steel in storage or on the bores of guns when exploded as a propelling charge. Meanwhile," turning to Lawn, "I'm tremendously obliged to you for coming—and for your offer. You see how it is, don't you? I couldn't risk taking money for a thing which might at the end prove dear at any price."

"I cheerfully accept that risk," insisted young Lawn. "I am quite ready to do all the worrying, Captain Selwyn."

But Selwyn merely shook his head, repeating, "You see how it is, don't you?"

The matter of business arrangements apparently ended then and there. Lawn's company sent several men to Selwyn and wrote him a great many letters—unlike the government, which had not replied to his briefly tentative suggestion that chaosite be conditionally examined, tested and considered.

So the matter remained in abeyance, and Selwyn employed two extra men and continued storage tests and experimented with rifled and smooth bore tubes, watchfully uncertain yet as to the necessity of inventing a solvent to neutralize possible corrosion after a propelling charge had been exploded.

Everybody in the vicinity had heard about his experiments. Everybody pretended interest, but few were sincere, and of the sincere few were unselfishly interested—his sister, Eileen, Drina and Lansing and maybe one or two others.

However, the younger set, now predominant from Wyossett to Wonder head, made up parties to visit Selwyn's cottage, which had become known as the Chrysalis, and Selwyn good naturedly exploded a pinch or two of the stuff for their amusement and never betrayed the slightest annoyance or boredom. In fact, he behaved so amiably during gratuitous interruptions that he won the hearts of the younger set, who presently came to the unanimous conclusion that there was romance in the air. And they sniffed it with delicate noses uptilted and liked the aroma.

One man, often the least suitable, is usually the unanimous choice of the younger sort where, in the disconcerting summer time, the youthful congregate in gratuitous segregation.

Their choice they expressed frankly and innocently. They admitted cheerfully that Selwyn was their idol. But that gentleman remained totally unconscious that he had been set up by them upon the shores of the summer sea.

On the sunlit sands dozens of young people were hurling tennis balls at each other. Above the beach, under the long pavilions, sat mothers and chaperons. Motors, beach carts and victorias were still arriving to discharge gayly dressed fashionables, for the hour was early, and up and down the inclined wooden walk leading from the bathing pavilion to the sands a constant procession of bathers passed with nod and gesture of laughing salute, some already retiring to the showers after a brief ocean plunge, the majority running down to the shore, eager for the first frosty and almost embrace of the surf rolling in under a cloudless sky of blue.

As Eileen Erroll emerged from the surf and came wading shoreward through the seething shallows she caught sight of Selwyn sauntering across the sands toward the water and halted knee deep, smilingly expectant, certain that he had seen her.

Gladys Orchil, passing her, saw Selwyn at the same moment, and her clear, ringing salute and slender arm aloft arrested his attention, and the next moment they were off together swimming toward the sponson canoe which Gerald had just launched with the assistance of Sandon Craig and Scott Innis.

For a moment Eileen stood there motionless, knee high; the flat ebb boiled and hissed, dragging at her stockinged feet as though to draw her seaward with the others. Yesterday she would have gone without a thought to join the others, but yesterday is yesterday. It seemed to her as she stood there that something disquieting had suddenly come into the world, something unpleasant but indefinite, yet sufficient to leave her vaguely apprehensive.

Somebody threw a tennis ball at her. She caught it and hurled it in return, and for a few minutes the white felt covered balls flew back and forth from scores of graceful eager hands. A moment or two passed when no balls came her way. She turned and walked to the foot of a dune and seated herself cross legged on the hot sand, her serious beautiful eyes fixed steadily on a distant white spot, the sponson canoe where Gladys and Selwyn sat, their paddle blades flashing in the sun.

How far away they were. Gerald was with them. Curious that Selwyn had not seen her waiting for him knee deep in the surf—curious that he had seen Gladys instead. True, Gladys had called to him and signaled him while arm uplifting. Gladys was very pretty, with her heavy dark hair and melting Spanish eyes and her softly rounded, lithe, slender figure. Gladys had called to him, and she had not. That was true, and lately, the last few days or perhaps more, she herself had been a trifle less impulsive in her greeting of Selwyn, a little less [illegible] with him. After all, a man comes when it pleases him. Why should a girl call him, unless she—unless, unless—

Perplexed, her grave eyes were fixed on the sea, where now the white canoe pitched nearer, close in now.

When the canoe suddenly capsized Gladys jumped, but Selwyn went with it, boat and man tumbling into the tumult over and over. As Eileen looked she saw a dark streak leap across his face, saw him stoop and wash it off and stand looking blindly about, while again the sudden dark line crisscrossed his face from temple to chin and spread wider like a stain.

"Philip!" she called, springing to her feet and scarcely knowing that she had spoken.

He heard her and swam toward her in a bathing dazed way, stopping twice to cleanse his face of the bright blood that streaked it.

"It's nothing," he said. "The infernal thing hit me. Oh, don't use that!" as she drenched her kerchief in cold sea water and held it toward him with both hands.

"Take it. I—I beg of you," she stammered. "Is it a cut?"

"Why, no," he said, his senses clearing. "It was only a rap on the head, and this blood is merely a nuisance. Thank you. I will use it, then, if you insist. It'll stop in a moment anyway."

"Please sit here," she said—"here, where I've been sitting."

He did so, muttering: "What a nuisance! It will stop in a second. You mustn't remain here with me, you know. Go in; it's simply glorious."

"I've been in. I was drying my hair."

He glanced up, smiling, then, as the wet kerchief against his forehead reddened, he started to rise, but she took it from his fingers, hastened to the water's edge, rinsed it and brought it back cool and wet.

"Please sit perfectly still," she said. "A girl likes to do this sort of thing for a man."

"If I'd known that," he laughed, "I'd have had it happen frequently."

She only shook her head, watching him unsmiling. But the pulse in her had become very quiet again.

"It's no end of fun, that canoe," he observed. "Gladys Orchil and I work it beautifully."

"I saw you did," she nodded.

"Oh! Where were you? Why didn't you come?"

"I don't know. Gladys called you. I was waiting for you—expecting you. Then Gladys called you."

"I didn't see you," he said.

"I didn't call you," she observed serenely, and after a moment she added, "Do you see only those who hail you, Captain Selwyn?"

He laughed. "In this life a good soldier always answers a friendly hail."

"So do I," she said. "I choose hail me after this—because I don't care to take the initiative. If you neglect to do it, don't count on my hailing you any more."

The stain spread on the kerchief. Once more she went to the water's edge, rinsed it and returned with it.

"I think it has almost stopped bleeding," she murmured as he laid the cloth against his face. "You frightened me, Captain Selwyn."

"I am not easily frightened."

"I know it."

"Did you know I was frightened?"

"Of course I did."

"Oh," she said, vexed, "how could you know it? I didn't do anything silly, did I?"

Did Anty Drudge Wash the World?

"Oh, Anty Drudge! the world was brown,
When I climbed up to bed last night.
Did you wash it with Fels-Naptha?
For now it's clean, and pure, and white."

New uses for Fels-Naptha are being discovered every day.

One woman writes us that she finds it the best thing to clean metal beds. It makes white enamel glisten and polishes brass till it shines like a mirror. And vermin keep away from a bedstead that's washed regularly with Fels-Naptha.

There are a thousand and one uses for Fels-Naptha besides washing clothes, etc. It will clean anything cleanable, from pans and pots to floors and windows. Do it perfectly in cool or lukewarm water.

Cuts the grease on dishes and cooking utensils, brightens painted woodwork, whitens floors and freshens up the colors of oil-cloth or linoleum.

Directions for all kinds of easy cleaning with Fels-Naptha are to be found on the red and green wrapper. Follow them carefully.

MEN SENT ABROAD BY Y. M. C. A. TELL OF EXPERIENCES THERE.

Have Covered Much Territory Since Arriving In Europe and Have Learned About People and Languages.

The following facts will be of special interest to the people of Connellsville and vicinity, inasmuch as the local Young Men's Christian Association, through the generosity of its members and friends, pledged $1,000 for the support of Mr. McCannaughey as a member of Dr. Steiner's expedition to go through Europe and study conditions to fit themselves for work among the foreigners here.

Dr. Steiner went June 3rd in advance to arrange for the party (July 1st) and met them on their landing at Rotterdam. The boys went over steerage. They mingled with the passengers, sang male voice selections and won their way into the hearts of all. An old Dutchman on the ship told Dr. Steiner that they—the boys—"were God's blessing to the passengers."

They visited Rotterdam, Prague and Vienna, then they located in a Hungarian village (Melcsicz) the Carpathians, near the border between Hungary and Moravia. They were from August 4 until September 29. While they began the study of Slovak immediately upon their arrival on the other side, or within a day or two thereafter, stopping at regular intervals on their wheeling up the Rhine and all the way en route to Vienna. At Milesicz they were highly favored with a fine teacher and at the same time had the advantage of close contact with the Peasants. The forenoons they spent in hard study and the afternoons in mingling with the people. The villages are close together and they visited many of them.

E. E. Bohner, our former State Student Secretary, wrote that when they visited a village they were usually directed to those men and women who had been in America and these were found to be the most impressionable. He says, "In every case we have seen, we have noticed that the returned immigrants are improved and are sober, thrifty men."

He says in another paragraph, "on one of our walks last week we came across some Peasants who were threshing with a machine which they turned by hand. One place was occupied by a girl. We took off our coats and "hopped to it" much to the amusement of the tired workers.

"Instead of one, it took three men to feed the machine and soon the threshing was done." On another excursion they visited a place called Trenschteplicz and from there Bohner wrote, 'the man with whom we are taking dinner has five sons in America, one on the battleship Connecticut. He is as proud as though they were in Heaven. Again, a classmate of Dr. Steiner, who is a physician not far from here said that he would starve were it not for the fact that the men in America send their wives money and urge them to be treated by a physician rather than consult a 'witch.'"

Dr. Steiner wrote after they settled at Melcsize under date of August 12: "We are now ideally situated in a Christian home (Missionary) in which self-sacrifice and zeal are dominant notes."

On September 14 Dr. Steiner wrote. "I returned to the boys after a week's absence and found them flourishing and progressing in every way beyond my expectations. The progress they are making in the Slovak language is far beyond my expectations and the spiritual atmosphere of the group is all I could desire. I am sure that a genuine missionary spirit is developing among them and the work they are now doing is as great as one might expect from missionaries long in the field."

On September 27, J. H. Dague, one of the party, a graduate of Washington & Jefferson College, and undergraduate of Crozer Theological Seminary, wrote regarding the approaching departure from Melcsez, "We have been having grand times here and are only sorry that the time has come when we must leave. The people about here have surely won a warm place in the hearts of us all and I know I will never look upon the Slovak as any other than my brother. I think we have also cheered the lives of many of the people in this neighborhood. We have gone through all the forms of the Slovak grammer and have the more important points very well fixed in our minds."

Tuesday, September 29, they left Melcsize and went to Budapesth. Dr. Steiner arranges their work so that the hard work will be punctuated by visits to the cities where they may get instructions by interesting sight seeing in museums, cathedrals, public buildings and institutions, etc. After an account of the places visited Dague says, 'We were much impressed by all we saw in this city. It gave us a different opinion of the genius of the Magyar people. They have that for which they may feel proud and I admire their patriotism. I shall never again look on a Magyar as a semi-barbarian as I did sometime ago. We stepped out of the midst of the poorest Slovak Peasants into the best Magyar cities."

A postal dated Budapesth October 1, signed by the entire party says: "This is a great, beautiful, modern city justifying the pride of these Magyars in it. Today the Emperor is visited by the King of Spain and we shall see the procession and see Hungary at her best. We are on our way to northern Hungary and Kattowitz, German Poland." As this postal indicates they went October 1 from Budapesth to Kattowitz, German Poland, after a trip through Hungary. Dr. Steiner says: "In Kattowitz they will be in charge of a noble missionary, Rev. H. A. Urban, who has in charge the whole evangelistic movement in Poland. No better place could be found anywhere for the purpose. The work they will do will all be practical missionary work, just as if they were in Pennsylvania, as this is an industrial, coal and iron, community, and this the only organized missionary work. They will have to live very plainly, like soldiers, and will have to show the stuff out of which they are made." At Kattowitz they will remain several months and are studying Polish. V. C. Hart, a graduate of the Institute and Training school at Chicago, writes from Kattowitz, October 7, that they are located in a German Missionary Training School. He says: "They have about forty students who are preparing for missionary work in southeastern Europe. There are Poles, Russians, Bohemians and Germans. We have a splendid Polish teacher. He is an old Polish nobleman who suffered and lost considerable when his country was divided by Russia, Germany and Austria. His English is limited, but we will manage to get along by using German when he doesn't know its English equivalent." As at Melcsize, so here at Kattowitz the boys take excursions out into the country, in actual, helpful contact with the people. In the spring they will go to Italy and will be under the care and tutelage of the Italian Methodist College at Rome, Dr. Spencer, President, and there again they will combine the actual work among the people with hard study of language, history and sociology of the country.

Dr. Josiah Strong says "The sending of the expedition under Dr. Steiner to Southern Europe is the most rational and hopeful step that has been taken, within my knowledge, toward Christian statesmanship."

A call came from the State Y. M. C. A. office at Harrisburg for the second payment on the $1,000 pledged locally and it is hoped that all who have not responded, with any others who may be impressed to help in this most important undertaking, will leave or send their contributions to the Secretary of the Connellsville Association immediately as the forwarding requires considerable time.

BATTLESHIPS AT AMOY

Chinese Make Great Preparations to Show Their Friendship.

Amoy, China, Oct. 30.—Eight battleships comprising the second squadron of the American Atlantic fleet, under command of Rear Admiral William H. Emory, arrived here this morning after an uneventful voyage from Yokohama. To the Chinese the visit of the Americans is of far-reaching importance and every preparation has been made not only to extend a flattering welcome but to impress upon them China's desire for even more cordial relations with the republic than have prevailed hitherto.

The sixteen ships of the fleet left Yokohama together on Sunday morning, but divided into two squadrons when two days out, the first under command of Rear Admiral Sperry on the flagship Connecticut heading for Olongapo, P. I., and the second, under Rear Admiral Emory on the Louisiana, bound for Amoy. The two squadrons join forces again at Manila, the second division being scheduled to leave this port on Nov. 4 and to arrive at Manila on Nov. 7.

MRS. TRUTH SILBAUGH DEAD.

Well Known and Long Time Resident of Confluence Expires.

Mrs. Truth Silbaugh, an old resident of Confluence died Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Cal Younkin, having been ill for about ten days of bronchitis. She was born near Confluence October 13, 1829, and was 78 years old.

The deceased was almost a life long member of the Methodist Episcopal church having been a devoted Christian and an active worker in the church. She was always of a very cheerful disposition and a very kind neighbor.

The deceased is survived by two brothers, Sabastule Hinbaugh of Deer Park, Alpha Hinbaugh of Oakland and one sister, Almita Hinbaugh of Oakland and one son, John of Drakotown. The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Younkin, West Confluence. Interment will take place in the Drakotown cemetery.

Two Workmen Perish by Fire.

New York, Oct. 30.—Hemmed in by flames in the basement of a business house in Duane street, Henry Jones and David Mahoney were burned to death and William Settgast was so seriously burned that he will probably die. The men were employed in the manufacture of celluloid novelties and they were at work when a barrel of celluloid caught fire. The fumes overcame Jones and Mahoney, but Settgast fought his way to the street, where he fainted.

FIRES NEAR MEYERSDALE.

Three Discovered in Different Places in One Day.

MEYERSDALE, Oct. 30.—This community was visited by three fires yesterday afternoon and last night. The first one occurred in the afternoon at Boynton, near here, when the large barn and all its contents, located on the farm at present occupied by Raef Blubaugh, was totally destroyed. The next was a stable on Large street, the property of John T. Hocking, and the last one occurred at about 11 o'clock at Elkensville, just west of here, when a large boarding house occupied by a number of foreign miners was totally consumed. In one or two of the cases incendiarism is suspected.

There were all kinds of shifts in the Mercantile League as a consequence of last night's games. Dunbar was vanquished by the Wright-Metzler quintet and the all All-Stars, by winning from the Westmoreland Grocers, jumped into first place. The Wright-Metzler team is tied with Dunbar for second honors while the B. & O. Clerks, in spite of a bad start the first week of the league, are safely ensconced in the fourth corner. The Grocers are fifth while the Amateurs, who are in a bad rut just at present, are trailing the bunch.

Conway of the All-Stars captured the honors in that team's game with the Grocers on the Casino alleys last night. He rolled 257 in the third game which is a mark that is likely to stand for a few weeks. His total was 561 was above his nearest competitor. The All-Stars rolled a great set, Kohler being the only man who failed to total 500 or better.

The Grocers spilled enough pins to have won under ordinary circumstances, but the All-Stars rollers were hanging up records hard to beat. The score:

Amateurs Defeated.

The B. & O. Clerks defeated the Amateurs three straight games on the Temple alleys last night although no sensational scores were hung up. Neither team approached the 800 mark for a game while the Amateurs fell into the 600 class on one occasion.

Boyce of the Clerks made a total of 492, which was the best mark of the contest. He also led in high game with 176. Captain Downs headed his team with a total of 438, but the Amateurs were all off color. The score.

Wright-Metzler Wins.

After rolling a very bad game at the start in Dunbar last night the Wright-Metzler quintet took advantage of Dunbars' subsequent slump and captured the next two games. No high scores were rolled and on three occasions the players fell below the 100 mark. Schoonover captured honors in high game with 195 to his credit, but Bell had high total. The score follows:

Women's Tailored Suits $25.00

The very smartest styles of the year embodying all the new and particularly clever style points that distinguished and individualize fashionable apparel. These suits at $25 were created especially to exemplify our determination to provide the best $25 suit in America in style, material and workmanship. The new broadcloth suits are particularly well represented in this $25 showing as well as the chevron stripes in all the new shades. Over a dozen distinctive models attractively trimmed with satin bands. All the new skirt effects at $25. Great as is the variety in individual garments all are subject to the influence of the directoire period and in buying your winter apparel, no matter where you elect to purchase it, we suggest that you look well to the "lines" and "designs" of the garment. Remember that a little satin and a big button or two do not in themselves reflect any real style. In "lines" alone does a garment gain its individuality.

Our Collection of Waists at $5

If concentrating all of our buying energy and bringing to bear all the weight of our extensive purchases, could not secure very superior waist values, we would be very much discouraged. The results, however, have been so pleasing to us that perhaps we're a little bit too enthusiastic and we want every discriminative woman in this section to view this showing and candidly express her opinion of the models we present. Taffeta waists shown in brown, navy, and black; net waists are .. $5.00

Here in white and ecru, silk lined and priced at $5.00, we deem them decidedly remarkable values.

Women's Union Suits 49c

Made from good yarns in a sanitary factory, color is true, perfect fitting garments that will give satisfactory wear and priced to be within reach of anyone's purse.

Child's Black Underwear 25c

Ribbed garments of good weight. The increased demand for black underwear caused us to search the market for the best garment possible. We present these as the result of our efforts.

Directoire Belts and Sashes

The directoire gown is paramount, hence, of course, the directoire accessory dress. We present a notable collection of sashes and belt.

Sashes priced from $2 to $4. Belts priced from 50c to $1.50

Men Are Wiser in Clothes-lore

Than They Used to Be.

Each year men become more and more insistent that their clothes present style features that individualize them. They know what expert tailoring means to a suit. They know the quality of linings and fabrics. In a measure this has been brought about by dealers who have nothing to conceal in the make-up of the apparel they sell.

We've had "our say" in the making of every garment in our store. There's a mighty sight of difference between the clothing we offer and the ordinary run of ready to wear clothing. You can determine this for yourself. A most casual observer would detect the individuality of a Wright-Metzler garment. Careful tailoring does much to make a garment attractive, but it does more in giving to the garment a shapliness that will endure to the end. We want to show you just how our clothing is made and why and how they differ from the many mediocre kinds you see.

Interwoven Half Hose 25c

Double heels, double toes and not a seam anywhere. Heels and toes will outwear the rest of the sock. Pretty good hosiery news, isn't it? True to the letter and shown in many of the most wanted colors. They have a mercerized finish, closely resembling silk, colors are absolutely fast, they are by far the best hose for men we've ever seen. They cost no more than the ordinary kind and they will outwear them three to one. Try them next time you buy hose.

Ghosts, Hobgoblins, Witches

And a Host of Other Strange Weird People from the Spirit Land.

Down in our big basement store is a Hallowe'en Colony, a gathering of the strangest little beings you've ever seen. Faces with great glaring red eyes and pumpkin bodies, long haired, witches, black cats, surmounted by little red imps.

Many queer sights, indeed, and all gathered here awaiting the eve of the feast of all hallows when they will take a most active part in the many ghostly gatherings. We are especially prepared to assist you in making that night of destiny more weird, more indicative of witchcraft more supernatural by the aid of these strange beings of another world. You can accomplish a very grewsome effect at slight outlay.
